THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

AGRICULTURAL BILL PASSED BY THE SENATE.

Major Daniel's Oration Arranged For-The Bill Allowing Women to Practice

The bill amending the Code so as to prewide that the Commissioner of Agriculture be elected by the Legislature instead of by the Governor, came up yesterday in the Senate as the special order on its passage.

Mr. Heaton said that, though he did not wish to place any special obstacles in the way of the measure, he wanted it understood that he opposed the relegation of the power to the Legislature. In fact, he was in favor of giving the power of filling the office to the people. The roll was called office to the people. The roll was c and the bill passed—ayes, 20; noes, 0. MAJOR DANIEL'S GRATION.

The special committee appointed to invite. Major John.W. Daniel to deliver an address on the life and character of the late Jefferson Davis, reported that all arrangements for the interesting occasion had been completed, and that the address would be made. Saturday night, in the Mozart Academy. On the stage will sit State and city officials and prominent visitors to the city, and Mr. Cardwell. Speaker of the House of Delegates, will preside.

Mr. Heaton, during the brief discussion of the report, pleasantly suggested that Mr. Peters, the patron of the bill, should have shown the lady, whose cause he was cham-rioning (Mrs. Annie Smith, of Panville), the courtesy to invite her to appear before the committee and present the case.

Mr. Peters replied that the case was in the hands of the gentleman from Loudoun (Mr. Heaton), to whom the lady had writ-ten on the subject in poetic terms. No ac-tion was taken on the repert.

Lesloux, lately of New York, now of this city, and Miss Hattie Lee Williams. The parlors were crowded with friends and relatives, and the ceremony was performed in the irent room, which was beautifully decorated with flowers and fearns. Suspended from the middle of the celling was an exquisite bowl of white roses, with the initials "L. W." Under this the young couple plighted their troth. Rev. William E. Judkins, paster of the Centenary Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Ried, of Hartford, Conn., an uncle of the groom, officiated.

Those who attended the marriage from New York were Dr. A. R. Ledoux, brother of the groom, and his wife, Mrs. L. P. Ledoux, mother, and Miss Louise V. Ledoux, a sister of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty, of Baltimore were also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Ledoux left the city last aught on the 7-13 train for the North.

The bride is a beautiful and attractive haughter of the late Mr. Richard LeRoy Williams, and is widely connected in Virima. The groom is a son of the late Rev. Womiss P. Ledoux, who was the pastor of the d'Presbyterian Church on Church Hillinge emoved—until 1858, and was one of the founders of the Young Men's Christian in the sociation.

FUNERAL REFORM QUESTION. Interesting Expressions of Opinion on the Subject.

Subject.

Richmond will set the example of reform in the solemn matter of funerals. The very excellent report of the committee on funeral reforms, of which Rev. Dr. Moses D. Hoge was chairman, which has been reported in The Times, was considered Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the Evangelical Alliance, held in the Gracestreet Baptist Church.

It was a fact that caused comment, that

School was called in shortly afterwards, and then it was discovered that young Bridges was suffering from hemorrhage. Mr. McGu're put him on a streetear at once and sent him home. Dr. Roy was summoned immediately, and succeeded in stopping the flow of blood temporarily, but the hemorrhage has recurred at intervals since, with more or less violence. He was considered better last night.
